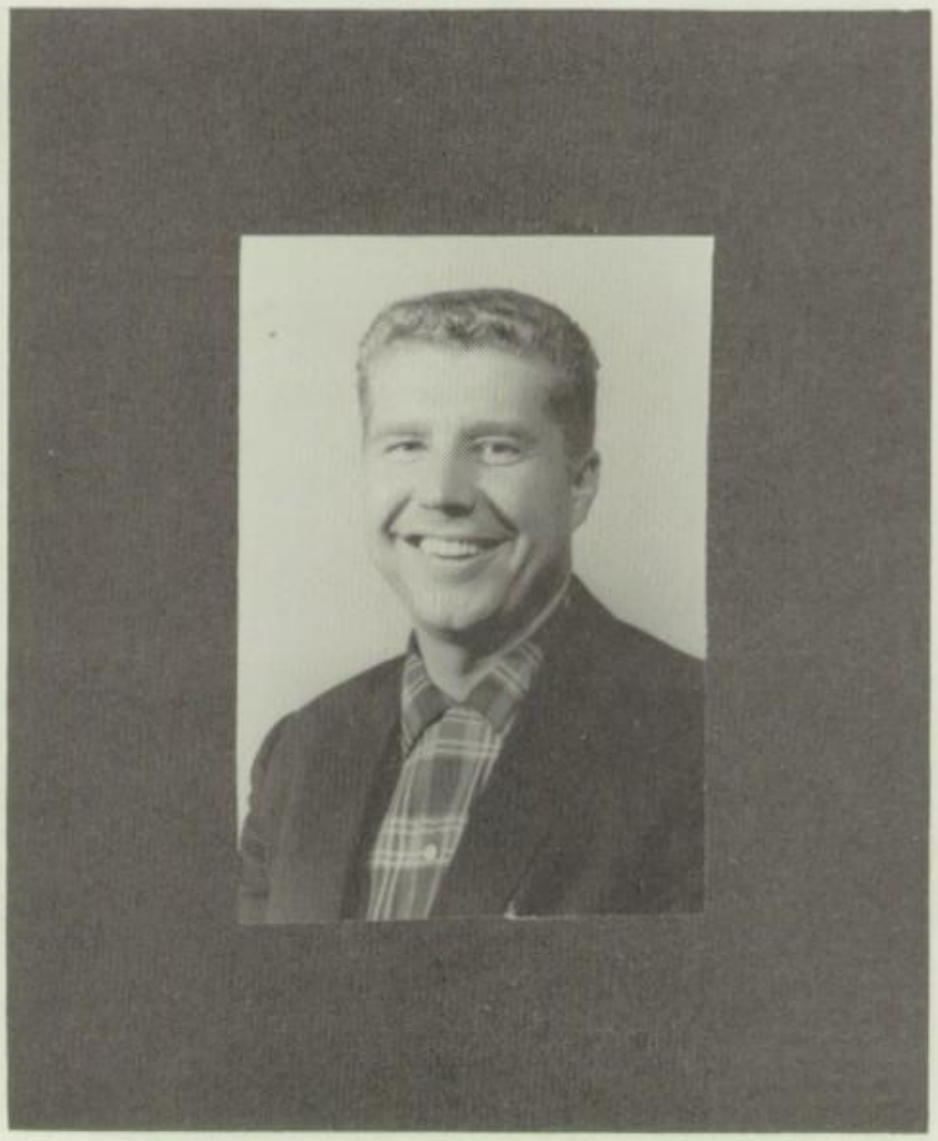
THE EAGLE 1961

Jim Emilson, Erwin Kretzmeier, Mary Terrell, Mrs. Cassiday, Ruth Steiner, Anna Norris, Laura Clark, Karen Durflinger, and Joanne Morris.

Dedication



To Mr. Surface, our coach, we the Senior class of Pine Township High School dedicate our annual, the Eagle. His constant smile, steadfastness, and understanding have encouraged us throughout the year.

To the Seniors:

The class of 1961 is ample evidence of the old saying that the best has been saved for the last. The teachers of this school have always found this class to show the utmost co-operation in all endeavors. In fields of scholarship, athletics, leadership, and citizenship they have excelled. It is a matter of deep regret on the part of many local people that this year's graduating class is to be the last of a large number of classes to be graduated from Pine Township High School.

A spirit of deep humility, however, with a large modicum of docility, should be manifest in each senior's demeanor at this and at all other times. The half century of productivity that lies ahead for each one will find them "toiling, rejoicing, and sorrowing" as Longfellow declares; and as they near the end of life's journey, after being through "The University of Hard Knocks," they will be able to look back to their graduation of 1961 in fond retrospect and say, "Here ended our FIRST Lesson."

As they prepare to face the world with its joys and sorrows and grapple with its frustrations and adversities, as well as its successes and achievements, they should be challenged by the lines of Emerson:

"So nigh is grandeur to our dust,
So near is God to man
When duty whispers low "Thou must,"
The youth replies, "I can."

Graduate's Prayer

My days in school are over, God . . And now I go my way . . To make my fortune in the world . . According to my clay . .
I have acquired knowledge from . . The books that I have read . . And from my many teachers and . . The wisdom they have said . . But I am fully conscious, God . . That this is just the start . . And there is much that only time . . And living can impart . . And that is why I fold my hands . . And say this prayer to You
. . To help me solve my problems and
. . To see my struggle through . . I need Your strength and guidance and . . Your everlasting grace . . To meet the many troubles and . . The trials I must face.

CLASS PROPHECY

After spending seven years in college and getting my Ph. D. in education, I wanted to find out what some of my old friends from Pine Township were doing. Having kept in touch with Jim Emilson all during my college days, I wrote him a letter and asked what everyone was doing and where they lived.

Jim told me that he had put a private detective on the case and the results were really startling!

Jim said that he had just gotten another Cadillac. He only had six, and since that didn't provide one car for each day in the week, he bought another. The new car was a red convertible with a television and record player in the back seat. Jim really has done quite well since he married into the Rockefeller family.

The head popper down at the Kresge Store was none other than our friend and classmate, Laura Clark. Her popcorn stand seemed to be quite a success because she got the annual award from the Kresge Stores for the most popcorn sold in one year.

Anna Norris still lived in Pine Township, and she was now working at Senesac's Restaurant. As far as Jim knew, she still had her own Rock n' Roll band called "The Pine Creek Ramblers. "

Joanne had married Bob Larson two weeks after our return from the senior trip, and she was now in the hospital with another baby. So far she has two boys and two girls.

Karen was the head nurse at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota. She hadn't married yet, but the last report was that she was still after an old graduate of Pine.

Mary Terrell made one of the biggest changes of all. She was a long distance operator for the Bell Telephone Company, and she could now be heard for miles.

The last one that he told me about was Ruth Steiner. After getting her business training from Porter College, she went to work as a secretary in the Fowler State Bank. She was doing fine because she had just moved up to the vice-president's post.

Jim decided we should have a class reunion, but we couldn't have it at our old alma mater because it is now used as a hay barn; therefore, Jim suggested that we all meet at his Florida estate. His private plane will call for us next Friday at 4:30.

Erwin Kretzmeier

CLASS

In the fall of 1949 there were seventeen happy children starting their school career at Pine. They were R. J. Bible, Joseph Campagna, Laura Clark, Karen Durflinger, Bill Gick, James Girdler, Erwin Kretzmeier, Terre Lee LaGue, Ronald Slavens, Donald Stout, Kenneth Stout, Ruth Steiner, Jerry Stillabower, John Wilkinson, Judy Nall, James Emilson, and Julia Brooks. From that first year we will always remember the day Erwin was so frightened when the teacher sent him after the paddle even though it wasn't for him. Even at this early age Mrs. Fowler, our teacher, had those boy-girl problems, Joe Campagna and Ron Slavens were always chasing Ruth.

Beginning our second year we gained three new members, Ruth Walker, Doris Anderson, and Joanne Morris, to replace the three we lost, Jerry Stillabower, John Wilkinson, and Julia Brooks. Of course, we were rather shy with the newcomers, but it did not take long for us to know each other. Joanne especially remembers suddenly hitting the floor hard a couple of times when Jim just happened to pull her chair out from under her. Our teacher that year was Mrs. Senesac.

Terre LaGue decided to go somewhere else the third year so we were reduced to twelve. This year was rather dull except for the Chicken Pox which infested most of us.

During the fourth year we gained two new members, Sue York and Larry Bolinger. The big problem facing us that year was our multiplication tables. Except for Karen and Bill who seemed to have a knack for these horrid things, recesses were few and far between. Toward the end of that school year our room with Miss Scifres in charge had a picnic and party in the woods behind the school grounds.

As we progressed with our school days, it seemed like we were really making progress in our fifth year. There were times when the girls and boys would get mad at each other, but it never lasted long. We used to like to play out in the far corner of the schoolyard so that when the bell rang we would not hear it, and the teacher Miss Clem would have to come and yell at us. The girls had a project of making jewelry with shells which was a lot of fun. That year we gained one new student, Noah Shackleford.

Ronald Slavens and Noah Shackleford moved our sixth year, and Mrs. Muller was left with thirteen students. We had a lot of fun that year putting on skits for the other grade rooms such as Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts. Erwin had the privilege of being Liberace without a piano, but he gave a good performance anyway. The boys improved their pitching arms by throwing clay at the picture of Abe Lincoln. For some reason this did not last as long as writing "I shall not throw clay" five hundred times everyday for two weeks.

HISTORY

Moving upstairs for the seventh grade was a big thing in our lives. Our heads swelled properly to match the event. Fourteen strong we trudged from room to room for our clas-ses. All of us remember how the boys and girls would hurry back upstairs as soon as we had eaten in order to get a low-back chair. There we would sit all during noon hour.

Starting our eighth year we had lost four members, Ernest Anderson, Donald Stout, Kenneth Stout, and Gerald Sain, and only gained one new member, Anna Norris. There wasn't much excitement that year. We had a usual class party of a weiner roast, and the boys stayed in one group and the girls in another. Toward the end of that year Mrs. Sjodin invited the girls to her house one afternoon after school and for the night, we had a good time.

We finally made it into high school. This year Joe Campagna had decided to go somewhere else, but we gained three new members, David McGill, James McGill, and Mary Terrell. To add some variety to our regular schedule, the boys took home economics and the girls took shop for about three weeks. The boys remember with horror the fudge they made. In an effort to be speed demons, they cooked it too rapidly and ended up with a hard mess and dry cocoa in the bottom of the pan.

Starting our Sophomore year, we had lost two members, David McGill and James McGill. Standing out clearly in our minds is the class party we had in Lafayette where we were going bowling. The boys promptly left the girls at the school to provide their own transportation. Nasty things. Oh well! It wasn't a long walk so the boys were told as the girls finally came trouping in.

As juniors we moved forward about the same as before a little older and perhaps a little wiser. We lost two more members, Sue and Bill and were then cut to eight. This was a busy year with a Turkey Supper and concessions to sell for our senior trip. Our big event of the year was the prom. We joined with Wadena and Gilboa schools and had a lot of fun planning and decorating our gym.

Eight of us, Laura Clark, Karen Durflinger, Jim Emilson, Erwin Kretzmeier, Anna Nor-ris, Joanne Morris, Ruth Steiner, and Mary Terrell now headed toward graduation. The year was full of planning the yearbook, preparing for graduation, and looking forward to that sen-ior trip. That final march down the aisle on graduation day sent us all forward with many memories and hopes of things to come.

Class Will

To Sylvia Atkinson we will the privilege to take fewer solids so she could go out more with boys.

To Judy Bennett we will an hour's shopping spree with all the money she can spend.

To Darrell Daulton we will someone to help him with his studies at Otterbein next year.

To Mary Norris we will someone else like Erwin to fight with next year.

To Kenny Stout we will Erwin's ability to joke in class and get by with it.

To Karen Worley we will a yard of material for the bottom of her dresses.

To David Drake we will the ability to keep his mind on some subject except the girls for five minutes.

To Kenny Skoog we will a date with Connie.

To Shirley Stout we will the ability to stay in her seat.

To Denny Wood we will the ability to keep his class ring.

To Arthur Atkinson we will the name Arthermometer.

To Jean Bennett we will "King Arthur's Knights."

To Grace Clark we will a hand mirror so that she won't have to go in the office and comb her hair.

To Lois Rowe we will the ability to grow six inches within the next year.

To Mr. Surface we will another quiet sixth period study hall.

To Mrs. Cassiday we will a private secretary so she can slow down.

To Mrs. Schnurrenberger we will an hour long first period typing class.

To Mrs. Draving we will two girls to work in the kitchen to take Laura and Anna's place.

To Mr. Kreigh we will a warehouse for his bargains from Camp Atterbury.

To the Cooks we will locks for the kitchen doors.

To Jim Rosenberger we will a year's supply of cocoanut oil.
